The screenshot shows the Manchester Metropolitan University website for finding apprenticeships. The main heading is "Search for apprenticeships, graduate jobs and internships". Below this are search filters for "Keyword" and "Location". The navigation bar includes "Manchester Metropolitan University" and links for "Alumni", "Current students", "Staff", and "Contact us". There are also dropdown menus for "Study", "International", "Business and employers", "Research", and "About us". The main content area features two buttons: "Degree Apprenticeship Roles" and "All Apprenticeship Roles". A prominent section titled "Become a degree apprentice" includes the text "Register your interest, find an apprenticeship or learn how to apply." and two buttons: "Register for vacancies" and "Vacancies and events". The background of the page features a blurred image of students in a classroom setting.
